

2005 Microsystems and Nano Economic Summit

Sponsored by the OhioMEMS Association

Friday 21 October
Meyers University Club, Cleveland, Ohio USA

8:00 am Welcoming Remarks
 John R. Brandt, CEO MPI Group; Editorial Director, Inside Business Magazine

8:20 Keynote Lecture: The Challenge and Promise of PowerMEMS
 Professor Alan Epstein, Massachusetts Institute of Technology (confirmed)
 Speaker Introduction TBD

9:20 Products and Profits: Collaborating to Compete
 Michael Huff, MEMS Exchange, Washington DC (invited)
 Speaker Introduction by Frederick J. Lisy, ASM International

10:15 Break

10:30 Microsystems Investments: Igniting the Future (Actual Title TBD)
 Christopher Rizik, Ardesta (confirmed)
 Speaker Introduction TBD

11:10 Early Stage Investments: Lessons from Nano (Actual Title TBD)
 Craig Gomulka, Draper Triangle Ventures
 Speaker Introduction TBD

12:00 Break for Lunch

Special Luncheon Presentation: NIST: The Nanometrology Resource for Nanotechnology Dr. Michael T. Postek, NIST, Nanomanufacturing Program (confirmed) Speaker Introduction TBD
--

1:45 Panel: The Front Line of Innovation
Six start-up companies share their technology commercialization experiences
Moderator TBD

2:30 Sustaining Front Line Innovation: IP Considerations
 Troy Prince, JD, Thompson Hine LLC (confirmed)

3:15 Break

3:30 ASM International Special Event:
 Panel Discussion - Nano & Microsystems Standards
Practitioners and policy specialists provide views from around the industry
ASM International, Panel Moderator

4:30 Adjourn for Reception